Ours is a living, active, and loving God. He is willing and able to do as much in us and through us as we let Him. We first have to see the need for and the possibility of His daily working in our lives. The more we rely on Him, the more we are able to receive in the way of His direction through the inner working of the Holy Spirit. As we receive, we grow in faith by experience. Psalm 32:8 tells us the most definite promise of God's help that we find in His Word. I will instruct you and show you the way to go; with my eye on You, I will give counsel. Psalm 32:8

God not only directs our lives but also gives us the ability and power to carry out His directions. God is waiting for us to look to Him for this guidance.

Let's pray today that we will have the faith necessary to yield ourselves to God's guiding hand.
